CCMGA Has Busy Summer!

From work at the Cleveland County Fair, to presenting a variety of classes, to tending a beautiful Teaching and Demonstration Gardens, to attending the Monarch Butterfly Festival in Blanchard, Master Gardeners in Cleveland County have been productive and very busy this summer.

Classes like Seed Collecting, Fall Gardening, How to Make a Fairy Garden, Proven Winners, Photography in the Garden, and Composting offered a variety of topics to pique the interest of the public and get them interested in proper horticultural practices for their gardens.

Master Gardeners were active and involved at the County Fair, checking in exhibits and assisting judges with displays, and also offered tours in the Demonstration Gardens, as well as keeping the gardens beautiful.

The Monarch Butterfly Festival gave CCMGA members the opportunity to tell the public about gardening to preserve butterflies and help them along their way to winter breeding grounds.

Thanks to all of you who participated in these and many other activities to spread the word about proper horticultural practices and gardening in general. You do make a difference in our local communities!
